PREFACE.

WE TAKE great pleasure in having the honor to present to the members and many friends of the Forty-Ninth Iowa United States Volunteer Infantry, a Souvenir Book of the Regiment, which we trust will meet with the hearty approval and commendation of every member, officers and privates alike, of the regiment, and also the citizens of Iowa.

In compiling this valuable work and illustrating it with scenes that will last long in the memory of those who were willing to sacrifice their all for the honor of their country, we have spared neither time nor expense to make it as correct in data and details as the opportunities have offered, and it is with intense satisfaction that we are enabled to present a Souvenir Book that in a measure does credit to the regiment as a whole, and the State of Iowa. Our efforts to make this work valuable to all and to excel all other Regimental Souvenir works in every particular, we trust will be fully appreciated and the results crowned with success. Only a faint appreciation of its excellent value as a record of those who bravely volunteered their services and lives for the defence of their country can now be had, for, as years roll on, it will be numbered with the most valued treasures of the Spanish-American war, and referred to with pride by every individual member, their families and friends, as an everlasting testimony to the courage and patriotism of every soldier enrolled on its pages.

We desire to extend to Colonel Dows, the officers and soldiers of the Forty-Ninth Iowa United States Volunteer Infantry, our full appreciation and thanks for the generous courtesy and valuable assistance rendered to us in order to make our Souvenir Book as complete and correct as possible.

In the illustrations we beg to state that we have spared no expense to obtain the very best results, and we trust that no member will expect a reproduction equal to a photograph, nor can we portray every feature in a company picture, but our illustrations are as clear and perfect as photographs permit and money can obtain.

THE PUBLISHERS.

THE FORTY-NINTH Regiment Iowa Volunteer Infantry was the first Regiment Iowa National Guard, having been organized in 1878, and as such responded to the President's call for volunteers on April 25th, 1898, and was mustered into service at Camp McKinley, Des Moines, Iowa, on June 2d, 1898, as the Forty-Ninth Iowa Regiment of Volunteer Infantry. This Regiment has the distinction that no other Regiment in the Vohntee Army of the United States responded to the call prior to the Forty-ninth, every officer and Company responding to a man.

It takes the designation of the Forty-ninth because it is the forty-ninth consecutive Regiment of Infantry Volunteers furnished by Iowa to be used in the defence of the stars and stripes.

It looked at one time as though the Forty-Ninth might be turned down, on account of having the junior Colonel, Iowa having four regiments and her quota being but three, but the complete organization and the fine military appearance of the men overcame all objections, and the Secretary of War ordered its acceptance.

The Regiment left Des Moines on June 11th, and arrived at Jacksonville, Florida, June 14th, with 1,280 men and 50 officers, reporting to General Fitznigh Lee and being attached to the Third (afterwards the Second) Brigade, Second Division, Seventh Army Corps. It was brigaded with the Fourth Virginia and Sixth Missouri. The brigade commander was General H. C. Hasbrouck, and its division was commanded first by General A. K. Arnold, and afterwards, when it went to Cuba, by General Francis V. Greene.

No Regiment in the Seventh Army Corps can boast of a superior set of officers, all having seen from three to fifteen years service in the State Militia, nor of a more intelligent body of privates, who are thoroughly drilled and have the highest respect for all of their officers.

During the Corps review held in Jacksonville in the summer of 1898, the Forty-ninth Iowa elicited much applause, General Lee himself remarking on the fine body of men and the splendid military bearing which they had acquired under the direction of capable and painstaking officers.

COLONEL WILLIAM G. DOWS.

Colonel Dows, of the 49th Iowa Volunteer Infantry, was born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on the 12th day of August, 1864, hence is thirty-four years of age. He received his education in the public schools of his home town, and later graduated from the Shattuck School, at Faribault, Minn.

Colonel Dows is one of the most influential young men in the State of Iowa; his generous nature and genial disposition have made him hosts of friends. And in addition to his unswerving fidelity to what he believes is right, and his ability to carry out his ideas successfully, make him a recognized leader. He is prominent in the political world of his home State, as well as in the social, business and military worlds, having served a term as a member of the Cedar Rapids City Council, and is now a member of the Iowa State Legislature.

Colonel Dows' military career began 15 years ago, when he joined Company C, Iowa State Guard, at Cedar Rapids, as a private. He has been continuously in the service of the State since 1883, and is one of the oldest members of the Iowa National Guard. He served Company C in all the various ranks, and has served the 1st Regiment, I. N. G., as Regimental Adjutant, Major, Lieutenant-Colonel, and after faithful service to his State, reached the top-most rank in his regiment, when he was elected Colonel, April 4th, 1898.

At the President's call for Volunteers, the 1st Regiment was mustered into the United States service as the 49th Iowa Volunteer Infantry, with the organization intact.

At Camp Cuba Libre during the summer of 1898, Colonel Dows at once began to make improvements necessary for the comfort of the men of his command. He caused floors to be built for each tent several feet above the ground, and when the dread Typhoid fever began to play havoc with the men of his Regiment, he was untiring in his efforts to bring relief to the fever-stricken men, and succeeded.

Colonel Dows is universally esteemed by both officers and men of his regiment, and there can be no doubt but that he is one of the most popular, as well as the most efficient, officers in the Seventh Army Corps.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL CLIFFORD D. HAM.

Lieutenant-Colonel Clifford D. Ham, of the 49th Iowa Volunteer Infantry, was born at Detroit, Mich., but has lived in Dubuque, Iowa, nearly all his life. He is a graduate of Yale University. He is thirty-seven years of age, and has had considerable experience in military affairs and held important positions at different times in connection with the State Militia. Lieutenant-Colonel Ham was in the Iowa National Guard for a period of 14 years; was at one time Lieutenant and Captain of that well-known crack Company—A. Was appointed Private and Military Secretary to Gov. Boies; later he was Major on Inspector-General's Staff. When the Regiment was called into service, Lieutenant-Colonel Ham was a Major of the 1st Regiment, Iowa National Guard, and on mustering in of the 49th Iowa Volunteer Infantry he was elected Lieutenant-Colonel of this fine body of men, who represent the flower of the State. Lieutenant-Colonel Ham is a newspaper man of considerable experience, being a brilliant writer, and editor of the Dubuque Herald. He is a man of commanding presence, and is very popular with all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. By his untiring efforts for the welfare of the Regiment and the natural pride he takes in it, he has endeared himself to one and all connected with the 49th Iowa.

CAPTAIN ALBERT M. JAEGGI, REGIMENTAL ADJUTANT.

Captain Albert M. Jaeggi, Regimental Adjutant, was born in Dubuque, Iowa, on Decoration Day, in the year 1865. He received his education in the public schools there, and also in the Bayliss Business College, and St. Joseph's College in Dubuque, and has been successful in the dry goods business in his home town.

Captain Jaeggi's military career began 14 years ago, when he joined the justly celebrated "Governor's Greys," of Dubuque, Iowa, which had the reputation of being the best drilled military organization in the West. In this company he rose to the rank of First Lieutenant, which position he filled with distinction.

He was Battalion Adjutant in the Iowa National Guard for two years, and was mustered into the United States service as Regimental Adjutant, with the rank of First Lieutenant, but was commissioned Captain on September 1st, 1898. He is an accurate marksman, and is one of the State sharpshooters.

Captain Jaeggi's military life, as well as his civil life, has been a success, and he is without one of the most courteous gentlemen in the Seventh Army Corps.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL CLIFFORD D. HAM.

MAJOR B. F. BLOCKLINGER.

REGIMENTAL CAMP, SANANNAH, GA.—November-December, 1898.

MAJOR SURGEON FRED CLARKE.

Major Surgeon Fred Clarke was born at Fairfield, Iowa, and is 36 years of age. He graduated at University of Pennsylvania 1889, and practiced his profession at Fairfield, Iowa, with remarkable success. Major Clarke has travelled extensively in pursuit of medical knowledge, visiting the large Universities of the Continent. He has taken post-graduate course under Prof. Osler at Johns Hopkins University. On the mustering in of the Regiment at Des Moines, Iowa, he was appointed Major Surgeon by Governor Shaw, of Iowa, May 6th, 1898.

First Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon E. L. Martindale was born in 1868 in Whiteside County, Ill., and graduated at University of Michigan in 1894, taking up the practice of medicine at Clinton, Iowa, which he gave up to enter the service and Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry. Lieutenant Martindale was appointed Assistant Surgeon on April 26th, 1898, and has proved himself a most popular officer. He served in the First Iowa National Guard as Assistant Surgeon for four years.

First Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon John Hamilton was born at Fou-du-Lac, Wis., August 6th, 1871, and graduated at the University of Pennsylvania in the Medical Department. Lieutenant Hamilton was appointed Assistant Surgeon of the Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry May 6th, 1898, and has been with the Regiment during its entire service. He served four years with Company F, Second Regiment Minnesota National Guard. Lieutenant Hamilton has lived at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for six years, and gave up a large practice to volunteer his services to uphold the honor of the flag. He has made a most popular officer.

Captain and Chaplain O. H. L. Mason was born June 27th, 1866, in Wapello County, Iowa, and is of English descent. He graduated from the State University of Iowa and received a Master's degree at State University, taking up the study of law in 1894, and later, in 1895, entering the ministry in the Congregational Church in the State of Iowa. On mustering in of the Forty-Ninth Iowa, Captain Mason was appointed Chaplain of the Regiment during its Governor, in which position he has endeared himself to the entire Regiment by his untiring efforts in the interest and welfare of the men. Captain Mason represented the State University in 1893 in the Northern Oratorical League, which was held at Oberlin, Ohio. Captain Mason is well known as a prominent debator and public speaker, having taken considerable interest and an active part in local and State polities before entering the ministry.

Quartermaster, First Lieutenant Frank W. Woodring, of the Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry, was born at Waverly, Iowa, August 15th, 1870, and received a thorough high school education, together with a thorough practical knowledge of mechanics in all its different branches having devoted his earlier years to that profession in the capacity of contractor, etc., and thoroughly understands mechanical engineering. Lieutenant Woodring has been connected with the National Guard of his State for the last eight years, and as Quartermaster since 1895, which Regiment is now known as the Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry. He was enlisted into the U. S. service on June 2d, 1898, having responded to the call which was made April 26th, 1898. He was with the Regiment during the entire period of recruiting and equipping, when in August of this year he was called upon to act as Brigade Quartermaster of the Third Brigade, Second Division, Seventh Army Corps, being later detailed as Assistant Quartermaster to the Seventh Army Corps, in which capacity he is now serving. Lieutenant Woodring's valuable experience as Quartermaster and the record he has made in these different positions of trust speaks for itself the efficient and valuable services he has rendered in the U. S. service, and without doubt has a brilliant future before him. Lieutenant Woodring is not only an efficient officer, but is popular with all who know him, and has made many warm personal friends, both in the service and outside.

Battalion Adjutant, First Lieutenant E. E. Reed, was born in Iowa in 1873. He graduated from the High School of Monticello, Iowa, and Iowa State College, also Drake University, taking up the study of law, which he has successfully followed. Lieutenant Reed was a member of the Cadet Regiment at the State College for four years, and graduated as Cadet Major, being appointed Battalion Adjutant of the First Iowa National Guard. On being mustered into the United States service he was appointed Battalion Adjutant Forty-Ninth Iowa Infantry Volunteers, April 26, 1898, and has served as Acting Quartermaster since August 9, 1898, fulfilling this position of trust with success.

Second Battalion Adjutant, First Lieutenant E. E. Olmsted, is home on a leave of absence (Newark, N. J.), and on this account we were unable to get full particulars.

Third Battalion Adjutant, First Lieutenant Wm. A. Siddle, was born at Clinton, Iowa, and is 29 years of age. He has followed the lumber business successfully for some years. On mustering in of the Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry Lieutenant Siddle was appointed Battalion Adjutant of the Third Battalion, which position he has successfully filled.

TRUMPETERS.

REGIMENTAL BAND.

Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry Band.

The Forty-Ninth Regiment Band was organized by Chief Musician Holt at Des Moines, Iowa, June 2d, 1898. Most of the musicians are from the northeastern part of Iowa, and are recognized artists in their particular instruments. Mr. Holt and Drum Major Reis were originally members of the old First Regiment Band, which was the National Guard Band prior to the enlistment in the Volunteer Army.

The Forty-Ninth Band plays only the best grade of music, and their concerts have won for them much praise; in fact, it became the favorite band of the Seventh Army Corps.

Charles C. Holt, Chief Musician of the Forty-Ninth Regiment Iowa Volunteer Band is a native of Ohio, and is 32 years old. He has a classical musical education, and is well known throughout the State of Iowa, where he has lived for six years, as the Euphonium Soloist of the First Regiment, National Guard of Iowa, Band. Mr. Holt's present residence is at Marshalltown, and is justly proud of the Forty-Ninth Band, which is one of the best in the Volunteer Army.

MAJOR SAMUEL E. CLAPP.

Major Clapp, First Battalion, is a native of Iowa and was born in Scott County, October 25th, 1861. He was educated in Davenport, and when a young man moved to Nebraska, where he studied law in Liberty, and was admitted to the bar in Beatrice. After a residence of five years in Nebraska, he returned to Davenport, where he was a dealer in real estate.

Six years ago he moved to Toledo, Iowa, where he still lives. Major Clapp's military career began early in 1890, when he joined Company H, First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, and in March of the same year he was elected Second Lieutenant; was First Lieutenant January 3d, 1891; while serving as such, at the reorganization of the State Militia was transferred, as Company K, to the Fourth Regiment, in which Company he was elected Captain, March 13, 1898. A short time subsequent to this he was transferred back into the First Regiment, and received his commission as Major February 25th, 1896, and was mustered into the U. S. Volunteer Army with his present rank.

While the Regiment was in camp at Jacksonville, Major Clapp's military experience was of great value in the Second Division, of which his Regiment was a part.

On July 2d, 1898, Major Clapp was entrusted with the general supervision and instruction of the guards and guard duty of the Second Division. He compiled from manuals now in existence a short and concise list of instructions for guards and sentinels, which was approved and adopted by Major General Lee.

In special order No. 53, issued August 2d, Major Clapp was appointed, by Brigadier General Arnold, president of the general court martial. The first battalion is composed of Companies F, C, H and K.

COMPANY F.

Company F was originally organized as Company B of the First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, but was later changed to Company M, of the Second Regiment. In 1897 it was again changed to Company F, of the First Regiment, which designation it had at the time of being mustered into the Volunteer Army. Its first Captain was Captain Kelly, who helped to organize the Company at Tipton, Iowa. He was succeeded by Captain Moffatt, who in turn was succeeded by Captain Lonis J. Rowell, its present Captain.

Captain Lonis J. Rowell was born and reared in Tipton, Iowa, where he still lives. He was educated in the public schools of Tipton, and later graduated from the Iowa State University as a lawyer. He joined Company F at Tipton, February 18, 1888, rose rapidly from the ranks, and was made Captain on the 28th of May, 1894. As a civilian, Captain Rowell practices his profession at Tipton, Iowa.

First Lieutenant Frank H. Gimsolns was born in Tipton, Iowa. Was educated in the public schools there, and later took a course in civil engineering at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., having just graduated when the call to arms came. His military career began in his home town when he joined Company F, January 4th, 1890. He was made First Lieutenant June 22d, 1896, and served on General Hasbrouck's staff at Camp Cuba Libre.

Second Lieutenant John E. Bartley was born in Cedar County, Iowa, October 21st, 1866; was educated in Tipton public schools and the Iowa Agricultural College. He joined Company F at Tipton on May 21st, 1887, and was elected to his present rank June 22d, 1896. In civil life Lieutenant Bartley is a tiller of the soil, and lives at Atalissa, Iowa, which he has made his home for two years.

COMPANY C.

Company C, Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry, was originally known and organized as Company C, First Regiment Iowa National Guard, November 1, 1883, at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Its first Captain was Geo. Green, who was elected Colonel of the Regiment, October, 1890, and appointed Adjutant General of the State January, 1891, serving two terms. Its second leader was Captain Smith, who was elected January 13, 1891, for a term of five years, when its present Captain, Geo. A. Evans, was elected. Company C was mustered in as they were in the National Guard, and enlisted with sixty-three men, afterwards recruiting up to the full quota of 104 men. The members are young business men, of fine physique, who immediately responded to the call of the President for volunteers, many giving up positions of trust and good salaries to defend the flag. They are a credit to the Regiment of the State of Iowa, and a body of men that any officer might well feel honored in being their commander.

Captain George A. Evans was born in Iowa in 1857, and was educated in Cedar Rapids, graduating from the high school there. Captain Evans began his military career in 1874, hence has had long experience. He was mustered out of service in 1880, and in 1883 joined his present Company; he has served as Sergeant and First Lieutenant, and was elected Captain in 1895. He responded promptly with his Company to the President's call for volunteers and was mustered into the Volunteer Army June 2d, 1898. In civil life Captain Evans is manager of large factory interests in Cedar Rapids, where he lives with his family, at 527 First Street, West.

First Lieutenant Harry J. Sugru is 28 years old, and was born in Rochester, New York, in 1870; was educated at that place and also in the Rochester Business College, taking a course in stenography. Lieutenant Sugru has lived in Cedar Rapids since 1890, and joined Company C, December 31st, 1891. He became First Lieutenant in February, 1898. His ability as an officer is well known and he is well liked by the men of his Company.

Second Lieutenant Albert U. Machemer was born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Christmas day, 1874; was educated in public schools of that place and has always lived there. He joined Company C March 2d, 1894, and was elected to his present rank April 4, 1898. He is an intelligent and conscientious officer.

COMPANY H.

Company H was organized in Marshalltown, Iowa, June 4th, 1897, by R. N. Darley, Charles S. Aldrich and others, Mr. Darley being elected Captain and Mr. Aldrich First Lieutenant. Although young in the service, Company H showed their courage and patriotism by responding unanimously to the President's call. The farewell given the Company upon its departure from home showed full well the esteem in which it is held in its native county. Thousands of parents and friends bade the boys a hearty but tearful Godspeed, and safe return. Captain Darley was succeeded by Captain Aldrich in December, 1897.

Captain Charles S. Aldrich was born in Cedar County, Iowa, and was educated in the public schools and in the Iowa State University, taking the B. A. degree in 1895, and the law course in 1896. He joined Company B, First Regiment Iowa National Guard, at Tipton in February, 1888, and serving through the various grades became First Lieutenant in 1895, at which time he moved his residence to Marshalltown, Iowa, and assisted in the organization of his present Company, becoming First Lieutenant. In December, 1897, he became Captain, vice Captain R. N. Darley, resigned, which position he held at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. Captain Aldrich responded promptly to the President's call, and reported with his Company, 90 men strong, at Camp McKinley, Des Moines, Iowa, for duty. In civil life Captain Aldrich is a lawyer, and practices his profession at Marshalltown, Iowa.

First Lieutenant Bruce F. Moffatt was born in Marshall County, Iowa, and was educated in the public schools, graduating from the Marshalltown high school with honors. His military career began soon after the organization of Company H, and his marked efficiency in military matters led to his election as First Lieutenant in January, 1898. Lieutenant Moffatt is a splendid officer, always looking to the welfare of the men of his Company. He is well up in military tactics and is a good disciplinarian.

Second Lieutenant Frank N. Haradon, born and reared in Marshalltown, Iowa, received military training at the Shattuck Military Academy and was captain of a company there. He also took a B. A. course at Yale University (1894), and graduated from the Kent College of Law, Chicago, in 1895. He refused to accept the position of Second Lieutenant when the Company was organized, and again refused the First Lieutenant's place when offered him in January, 1898, serving as sergeant until after the Company had been mustered into the United States Volunteer Service, when he was elected Second Lieutenant. Lieutenant Haradon is a capable officer, and is well liked by the members of the Company.

COMPANY K.

Company K, Forty-Ninth Iowa Infantry, United States Volunteers was organized in Toledo, Iowa, in 1884, and is a part of the First Regiment, National Guard of Iowa. Company K is composed of some of the flower of Iowa's youngest manhood, and has been steadfast and reliable since its organization.

In the drill at the State fair at Des Moines in 1886, and also at the dedication of the World's Fair, at Chicago, in 1893, Company K distinguished itself, and easily holds the record of being the second best drilled Company in the State. Again, during the great strike in Sioux City, in 1894, Company K saw active service and did much to restore quiet and order in the city.

Captain Peter W. McRoberts was born in Tama County, Iowa, May 9th, 1869, and was educated in the public schools of Toledo until about eighteen years of age. Was deputy sheriff of Tama County 1894-95, and has been in the employ of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway since. He joined Company K June 22d, 1886 as private, and rose step by step from the ranks until he was commissioned Lieutenant in 1893. He was elected Captain August 27th, 1898, vice Captain Herbert G. Ross, resigned. Captain McRoberts was married in Camp McKinley, Des Moines, Iowa, two days after being mustered into the Volunteer Army, and enjoys the unique distinction of being the first officer in the Volunteers to be married after being mustered into service. He deserves additional praise for leaving a young wife to serve his country, not knowing how soon a Mauser bullet might stop him in the fight.

First Lieutenant John N. Lichtry is 26 years old, having been born in Toledo, Iowa, April 8th, 1872. He was educated in the public schools of Toledo, and afterwards graduated from the Western College, at Toledo, Iowa, June 16th, 1898, taking the full literary course. Lieutenant Lichtry, being ambitious for an education, finished his course, studying at odd times for two years while serving as assistant postmaster at Toledo. He joined Company K as a private July 15th, 1889, and developing rapidly into a good soldier, he has risen to his present rank, his appointment being made August 27th, 1898.

Second Lieutenant Gustav W. Reichmann was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., January 29th, 1869, and was educated in the public schools of New York City and Toledo, Iowa, moving to the latter place when he was 13 years of age. He joined Company K as private, October 29th, 1891, and has served as corporal and sergeant. Was appointed Second Lieutenant at Jacksonville, Fla., September 15th, 1898. Lieutenant Reichmann is one of the crack shots of Iowa, is a member of the State Rifle team, and was a member of the Company that won the silver cup (a brigade trophy) for the past three years, and has a number of minor individual medals proving his ability with the rifle. He has an uncle in the Tennessee Cavalry, a cousin in the Ninth U. S. Cavalry and a cousin an Ensign in the navy. Lieutenant Reichmann is well versed in tactics, and is a handsome officer. He has been chief of the Toledo, Iowa, fire department.

FOOT BALL TEAM.

MAJOR BENJAMIN F. BLOCKLINGER.

The subject of this sketch was born January 1st, 1864, in Dubuque, Iowa, and graduated from the public schools of that place.

He enlisted as a private in Company A, the celebrated "Governor's Greys," of Dubuque, December 1st, 1886. He has served all the various ranks in this crack company. Was elected First Lieutenant in November, 1890.

In 1893 he was appointed Regimental Inspector of small arms practice, with the rank of Captain, which position he filled creditably until May, 1894, when he resigned and was elected Captain of Company A (Governor's Greys), the best drilled company in the Iowa National Guard.

In October, 1897, Captain Blocklinger was elected Major of the Second Battalion, First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, and was mustered into the Volunteer Army with the same rank in the Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry. He is an accurate marksman and one of the State sharpshooters.

In civil life Major Blocklinger is a banker, and resides with his family at Dubuque, Iowa.

The Second Battalion is composed of Companies D, E, G and B.

COMPANY D.

Company D was originally organized as Company F, Sixth Regiment, Iowa National Guard, August 28, 1877. Was changed to Company D, Fourth Iowa National Guard, in 1888, and again changed to Company D, First Iowa National Guard. It was mustered into the United States service June 2d, 1898, and designated as Company D, Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry. It is composed of able-bodied men, is well officered and capable of fulfilling any duties that they may be called upon to perform.

Captain F. B. Roziene was born in Chicago, Ill., August 28, 1867, but has lived in Charles City, Iowa, where he received his education, for twenty-nine years. Captain Roziene joined Company D at Charles City, August 29th, 1887, and was made Captain, June 2d, 1898, and is one of the most efficient officers in the Regiment. He is a civil engineer, and has been County Surveyor of Floyd County, Iowa.

First Lieutenant Calvin A. Danforth is a native of Iowa, and was born in Charles City, April 6th, 1872. He was educated in the public schools of that place, and later took a special course in the Highland Park Business College, at Des Moines. His military career began in 1890, when he joined Company K, of the old Sixth Regiment, Iowa National Guard, and when the State Guard was reorganized in 1892, he became a member of Company D, Fourth Regiment. He was made Second Lieutenant May 6th, 1894, and First Lieutenant, May 15th, 1896. His Company was called out to assist in putting down the Indian uprising in the Dakotas in 1890, but got no further than the depot. Lieutenant Danforth is a farmer, and still lives at Charles City, the place of his birth.

Second Lieutenant DeLos W. Fowler was born at Charles City, Iowa, May 23d, 1872; moved to Minneapolis at the age of 16, and was apprenticed to the machinist's trade; joined Company A, Minnesota National Guard, in August, 1889, which at that time was the crack Company of the Northwest; served three years, was honorably discharged and returned to Iowa and enlisted in Company D, under Captain F. B. Roziene; was corporal in '93, sergeant in '94 and Second Lieutenant May 15th, 1896. In civil life Lieutenant Fowler is an artist, and resides at Charles City, Iowa.

C O M P A N Y E.

Company E was organized June 4th, 1896, as Company E, First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, in Independence, Iowa, and volunteered its services when the call was made, being mustered into the Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry, June 2d, 1898, at Des Moines, Iowa, by Captain Olmsted. The Company is officered by Captain Allen, who has made a most efficient and popular officer, and who has brought the Company up to its present standing, which is one of the best in the Regiment. Its members are business and professional men of high standing, who gave up all interests in the one great cause of justice and liberty, and should necessity require it, will be found amongst the first to serve their country faithfully and with honor to their State and themselves.

Captain Hurbert A. Allen was born in Buchanan County, Iowa, April 4th, 1872, and was educated in the public schools, and took a course of Mechanical Engineering at the Iowa State College, graduating with honors. Captain Allen joined Company H, Fourth Iowa National Guard, as a private in 1889, and was commissioned First Lieutenant of same Company, which was mustered out in 1892. He was elected Captain of Company E, June 4th, 1896, which position he has held ever since. Captain Allen is a clever marksman, under the State rules qualifying as a marksman, but has never shot on record. In private life Captain Allen is District Manager of the American Bell Telephone Company, of Independence, Iowa. His untiring efforts for the welfare of his Company are well-repaid in the respect, esteem and confidence that his men hold toward him, a popular and efficient officer.

Lieutenant Mitchell B. O'Brien was born at Hazel Green, Wisconsin, and is 23 years of age. He was educated at the public schools of Independence, Iowa, and joined Company E, of the Iowa National Guard, June 4th, 1896, as a private, and on March 16th, 1898, was elected First Lieutenant of this Company, after having served as corporal and sergeant. Lieutenant O'Brien is a bricklayer in civil life, and has spent sixteen years of his life in Independence, Iowa. He is an expert marksman, and has made a most efficient officer.

Second Lieutenant Raymond P. Snow was born in Independence, Iowa, and is 22 years of age. Was educated in the public schools and joined the Company June 4th, 1896, serving as private, corporal and sergeant, being elected to his present rank January 22, 1897. In private life Lieutenant Snow is a salesman, and is popular in both civil and military life, having done much towards the efficiency and welfare of the Company. He, like his brother officers of this Company, is an expert marksman, all of which are amongst the best shots in the Regiment.

COMPANY G.

Company G was organized as a part of the old First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, and was mustered into the Volunteer Service at Des Moines, Iowa, June 2d, 1898. The Company is well officered and will successfully cope with any emergency which may arise in the line of duty, and are as fine a body of men as can be found in any Company in the volunteer service. Like many others they left their homes and positions to defend the honor of their country, and are well up in military tactics.

Captain Charles F. Young was born at Blairstown, Benton County, Iowa, October 5th, 1864, but has lived in Vinton for twenty-nine years. He was educated in the public schools of Vinton and the Burlington Business College. Joined Company G November 27th, 1887, and has served in every capacity, being elected Captain November 27th, 1887, making a most popular officer. In civil life Captain Young is a farmer.

First Lieutenant Guy Kellogg died in Camp at Jacksonville, Fla., August 21st, 1898. See "In Memoriam."

Second Lieutenant Herbert E. Crawford was born in Vinton, Iowa, December 15th, 1876, and finished his education at Tilford Academy, at Vinton, and The Iowa College, at Grinnell. Was made Second Lieutenant May 12th, 1898. He was not through College when he responded to the call for volunteers, and has faithfully filled his position with credit.

COMPANY B.

Company B was organized in Waterloo, Iowa, about the year 1883, and was a part of the Fourth Regiment, Iowa National Guard. Among its first officers were Captain McLaughlin, Lieutenants Miller and Fisher.

It was reorganized in 1894 as Company B, of the First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, and as such was mustered into the Volunteer Army June 2d, 1898. Company B was at the dedication of the World's Fair, in Chicago, 1893, and acquitted itself with considerable credit.

Captain Charles W. Cotton was born in Waterloo, Iowa, and is 29 years old. He was educated in the College of that place, and joined Company B as a private in 1889; was corporal 1892, sergeant 1893, lieutenant in 1895. He was unanimously elected Captain May 25th, 1898.

Captain Cotton has a sympathetic disposition, is liked by all in his Company and enjoys soldier life "when his boys all keep their health." Through his untiring efforts for the welfare of his Company, he has become one of the most popular officers in the Regiment. In civil life he is a prominent Real Estate and Insurance Agent in Waterloo, Iowa, his native town.

First Lieutenant Edwin J. Geist is 25 years old, and a native of Iowa. He has been a member of Company B since 1895, joining as a private. He rose rapidly from the ranks and was appointed Sergeant in 1896 and Lieutenant, May 27th, 1898. Lieutenant Geist was in Government service as a mail carrier before being mustered into the Volunteer Army.

Second Lieutenant Joseph A. Gury was born in Illinois thirty years ago, but moved to Waterloo, Iowa, when twelve years of age and has resided there continuously since. Lieutenant Gury is well educated, and before entering the service of the United States was a hustling reporter on the "Waterloo Reporter." He joined Company B in 1892 as a private, was made sergeant in 1893, and Second Lieutenant, his present rank, in 1894.

GUARD MOUNT.

PLAYING WITH THE SNAKE.

MAJOR FRANK R. FISHER.

The Major of the Third Battalion was born in Rockford, Ill., June 20th, 1857, but moved to Waterloo, Iowa, when he was ten years old, and was educated in the public schools of that city.

He has had ten years' experience in military matters, joining Company B, Fourth Regiment, I. N. G., on July 6th, 1888, as a private. He served as Sergeant, Second and First Lieutenant in that Company up to January 25, 1892, when he was transferred to First Regiment, April 30, 1892. He was elected Captain Oct. 27th, 1893, and was a member of the State Rifle team in the interstate competition during its existence—1890 to 1896—winning two gold medals in the competitive shoot at Fort Sheridan, Chicago, in 1892. Major Fisher was appointed to his present rank May 24, 1898. In private life he is a prominent business man and manufacturer of tents and awnings, and also held the position of Road Commissioner of Blackhawk County, Iowa.

COMPANY L.

Company L was organized in June, 1892, as a part of the First Regiment of the National Guard of the State of Iowa, with C. L. Root as Captain, F. L. Holleran, First Lieutenant, and Geo. M. Michelson (now deceased), Second Lieutenant. When the call for volunteers was made, Company L immediately responded and was mustered into United States service in Des Moines, Iowa, on June 2d, 1898. Captain Root failing to pass the examination, Captain C. C. McCollum, the Regimental Adjutant of the First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, was elected Captain, May 29th, 1898. First Lieutenant F. L. Holleran also failed to pass the examination, and was succeeded by Geo. M. Michelson, then Second Lieutenant. John B. Nattinger, then sergeant, was promoted to Second Lieutenant. Company L was the only Company from Iowa to attend the unveiling of Logan's monument in Chicago. The Company is composed of a fine body of men, and was one of the best drilled in attendance and won much applause.

Captain C. C. McCollum was born August 14, 1853, at Detroit, Michigan, and followed the mercantile business in St. Johns, St. Louis and Grand Rapids, Mich., for some years. Since 1880 he has been in the employ of the Chicago Northwestern Railway Company, in the accounting department, and occupied the position as store keeper at Clinton, Iowa, which position he immediately gave up on the call for volunteers—April 25th, 1898—and reported for duty at Des Moines, April 26, 1898, and was elected Captain May 29th, 1898. He was connected with Company

B, of the Second Regiment of the Michigan National Guard for about four years, attaining considerable experience in military tactics. Captain McCollum has proved himself a most efficient officer, and is very popular with his men, in whom he takes a great deal of pride, and is always looking after their welfare.

Second Lieutenant John B. Nattinger (acting at present as First and Second Lieutenants, owing to the death of First Lieutenant Geo. M. Michelson) was born in Lyons, Iowa, twenty-four years ago. He was brought up and educated in the public schools of that place. Joined Company L when organized in June, 1892. Was elected Second Lieutenant in June, 1898. He is a good officer, and in civil life is a dry goods clerk.

COMPANY M.

Company M was organized as a part of the First Regiment, Iowa National Guard, December 8th, 1893, electing Elza C. Johnson Captain. On April 26th, 1898, in response to President McKinley's call for volunteers, Company M at once reported at Des Moines and was mustered into the United States Volunteer Army June 2d, 1898. It was ordered into camp at Jacksonville, Fla., arriving there June 14th. While in camp Company M served on the Second Division rifle range and on the patrol guard. The men are robust and the health was the best in the Regiment while in Camp.

Captain Elza C. Johnson was born in Wyoming, Iowa, in April, 1873, but moved to Maquoketa in 1879, where he received his education in the public schools, afterwards taking the Ph. B. degree in the Iowa State University. After his school days were over, Captain Johnson studied law in the office of Hon. D. A. Wynkoop, of Maquoketa. He organized Company M, and became its Captain December 8th, 1893. He has always taken an interest in military matters, and was prominent in the University Battalion while at school. While in camp at Jacksonville, Fla., he was appointed Acting Inspector of small arms practice and range officer of the Second Division, Seventh Army Corps. In civil life he is a lawyer and real estate agent in Maquoketa, Iowa..

First Lieutenant George M. Johnson was born in Clinton, Conn., in October, 1875, but has lived most of his life in Iowa. He graduated from the Maquoketa high school in 1893, and entered the medical department University of Iowa, being in his junior year when the call to arms came. Lieutenant Johnson began his military career as a private in Company M, December 17th, 1893. He has served as corporal, sergeant and Second Lieutenant, and was elected to his present rank May 12th, 1898. He is a clever young officer, and expects to be a physician when he has served his country through the crisis.

Second Lieutenant Fred H. Nietzel was born in Muscatine, Iowa, September 5th, 1875; moved to Maquoketa, Iowa, when six years old and was educated in the public schools of that place. He joined Company M in December, 1893, as a private, and the next year was made First Sergeant, which rank he held until commissioned Second Lieutenant, May 12th, 1898. Lieutenant Nietzel is a successful brick contractor in his home town, and enjoys the confidence of all the men of his Company.

COMPANY I.

Company I is rather uniquely officered. Its present Captain was formerly and for nearly eight years Colonel of the Regiment to which it belonged. Its First Lieutenant served as its Captain for about eight years, and its Second Lieutenant was chief two years. None of these excellent officers were reduced, however, but all retired honorably from their higher rank and accepted their present positions, simply from devotion to the Company and the cause in which it was embarked. It is one of the oldest Companies in the State and none is more capably officered nor more reliable.

Captain Albert G. Stewart, son of Thomas Stewart, Esq., comes from an old Virginia family, of Scotch-Irish ancestry. He was born in Wisconsin, on March 1st, 1854; finished his education and studied law in the University of Wisconsin, and was admitted to the bar in Iowa in 1876. He enlisted as private in 1878 and was promoted twice before his time expired and was discharged in 1881 a sergeant. He immediately re-enlisted as private, and was soon chosen Captain of the Company. Under his command the Company was freely acknowledged to be the best in the State, winning prizes in '82 and '83. In 1885 Captain Stewart became Colonel of the Fourth Regiment, Iowa National Guard, and served one term and part of another, until 1892, going on the retired list with rank of Colonel. In 1897 his old Company became disorganized, and at the request of the Governor and Adjutant General, Colonel Stewart easily accomplished the reorganization, the men refusing, however, to be mustered in unless Colonel Stewart would again take active command. At the President's call for volunteers, Company I unanimously responded and were mustered in with their organization intact. Captain Stewart lost his only son, Albert, aged 18 years, sergeant in Company I, at Camp Cuba Libre, Jacksonville, Fla., the second victim in the Regiment of the dread Typhoid fever, which afterwards wrought much havoc among the men. Captain Stewart has been prominent in legal, political and social circles in northeast Iowa for many years.

First Lieutenant Ross A. Nichols was born in Ohio in 1861, but removed when a small child to Waukon, Iowa, where he has resided since, and received his education. He joined Company I, Fourth Regiment Iowa National Guard, in 1878, as private; served through all the various grades, including First Lieutenant, till 1887, when Captain Stewart was chosen Colonel of the Regiment, Lieutenant Nichols was made Captain, serving faithfully until 1893, when he resigned under pressure of business. Four years later on the reorganization of the Company he accepted the position of First Lieutenant, and at the President's call for volunteers, in the absence of the Captain, he was in command during the concentration and mobilization of his Company. In civil life he is a contractor and is prominent in local polities.

Second Lieutenant Wm. S. Hart was born in Allamakee County, Iowa, in 1866, receiving his education in the public schools, and later graduating in law from the Iowa State University, teaching school as a means to this end. At the age of twenty-three he was elected clerk of the District Court of Allamakee County, serving one term and a part of the second, resigning to take up the practice of law. Joined Company I as private in 1889, and, serving through the various grades, became Captain in 1895. At the reorganization of the Company in 1897 he re-enlisted as private, but was made Second Lieutenant soon thereafter, and was mustered into the United States service as such. He is an intelligent and capable officer.

COMPANY A.

Company A, Forty-Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry, probably the oldest Company in the State of Iowa, was organized in Dubuque, Iowa, in June, 1885, and named after the company of the old Governor's Greys, and which is really a continuation of the old Company, which was originally organized in 1859, this Company having the distinct reputation of being the first Company to volunteer to President Lincoln's call for volunteers in the Civil War. The Regiment's present Lieutenant-Colonel, Clifford D. Ham, and also Major Blocklinger, were Captains of this Company at different times. Company A acted as escort to Governor Larrabee to the Centennial celebration of the Constitution of the United States, held in Philadelphia in 1887, and attended Mardi Gras in New Orleans in 1894. During their thirteen years' service they have stood at the head of all Companies in the State of Iowa.

The personnel of this Company are young men prominent in business and society circles of Dubuque, Iowa, and are as fine a body of men as can be found anywhere, all volunteering their services for the good of their country and the honor of the flag.

Captain Willard M. Flynn was born in Dubuque, Iowa, February 2d, 1873, and attended the public schools of that town, graduating later from the High School in Class of 1890. He was connected with the Standard Oil Company in different capacities since that date. Captain Flynn enlisted as private in Company A, Fourth Regiment Iowa National Guard, July 2d, 1890, and was appointed corporal July 28th, 1892, being transferred to First Regiment Iowa National Guard, 1892; was appointed Sergeant September, 1894, and First Sergeant April, 1896, afterwards holding the respective positions of Second Lieutenant, First Lieutenant, and finally being elected Captain, December 6th, 1898. On mustering in of the Iowa National Guard, Captain Flynn and his men heartily responded to the call for volunteers, all willingly giving up their business and home ties to faithfully serve their country. The Company was mustered into the service June 2d, 1898.

First Lieutenant Jacob R. Ballough was born in Rockford, Ill., October 7th, 1871. He moved to Dubuque, Iowa, when about five years old, and received his education in the public schools of that place. Lieutenant Ballough has had ten years experience in military matters, joining the Governor's Greys Cadet Corps in 1888, and in December, 1890, he joined the famous Governor's Greys, of Dubuque, which was formerly Company A, of the Iowa National Guard. He has been through all the various ranks and was elected to his present position in February, 1898. Lieutenant Ballough is a popular officer, and during the sickness of his superior, Captain Flynn, acted as Captain in Camp Cuba Libre. In civil life he is a bookkeeper.

Lieutenant Charles John Stewart was born at Burlington, Iowa, November 30, 1873. Educated in public schools of Dubuque, Iowa, graduating from the Dubuque High School in 1892. Entered Dubuque County Bank as messenger, and was promoted to bookkeeper, which position he held for three years. At enlistment in the Army he was a clerk in the home office of the Dubuque Fire and Marine Insurance Co. His military career began in 1890, in Governor's Greys Cadets; joined Governor's Greys, Company A, First Regiment Iowa National Guard, July 11th, 1892, as a private. Served as a private, corporal, sergeant and first sergeant, and on February 22d, 1898, was chosen Second Lieutenant of his Company. On June 9th, was detailed as Acting Ordnance Officer of his Regiment, and has proved a most efficient officer and popular with his men.
